

ABSTRACT

5 The invention provides novel polynucleotides and polypeptides encoded by such polynucleotides and mutants or variants thereof that correspond to novel human C1q domain-containing polypeptides. Other aspects of the invention include vectors containing processes for producing novel human C1q domain-containing polypeptides, and antibodies specific for such polypeptides.